10 ASKS BUDLONG TO BE SPECIFIC IN DIVORCE SUIT

Wife Wants Reflections on Her Parentage Eliminated From Action.

Characterizing the aspersions on her character as "immaterial, irrelevant, scandalous and impertinent" Mary Gorham Budlong's lawyers will appear before Judge Case in the civil superior court Friday morning to ask that part of Herbert A. Budlong's defense to the divorce suit brought by Mrs. Budlong, be expunged. In his defense the assistant manager of the American Graphophone Co. declared his wife had misrepresented herself to him before their marriage by saying her character was good and she was of legitimate birth.

Another motion filed by Mrs. Budlong's lawyer is for a more specific statement regarding the indiscretions which Budlong claims his wife was guilty. Counsel want to have Budlong state, if he can, where in Providence, R. I., the alleged acts with Louis Davis took place.

Mrs. Budlong is at present receiving by court order, $18 a week alimony from her husband. She brought the suit on the ground of infidelity and cruelty. He filed a cross complaint making the same charges against her but the case is still pending.

NATION SEEKING BEST DEFENSES, PRESIDENT SAYS

only in the spirit of a true democracy that we get together to lend such voluntary aid, the sort of aid that comes from interest, from a knowledge of the varied circumstances that are involved in handling a nation.

"I want you to feel that you are coming to that assistance of a professional nature, that we have a very serious purpose, that we have not asked you to associate yourself with us except for a very definite and practical purpose, to get you to give us your best thoughts as to how we ought to make ready for any duty that may fall upon the nation."

"I do not have to expound it to you; you know as well as I do the spirit of America. The spirit of America is one of peace, but one of independence. It is a spirit profoundly concerned with peace because it can express itself best only in peace. It is the spirit of peace and good will and of human freedom; but it also is the spirit of action that is self-conscious, that knows and loves its mission in the world and that knows that it must command the respect of the world."

"So it seems to me that we are not working as there who would change anything of America, but only as those who would safeguard everything in America. I know that you will enter into the conference with the officers of the navy in that spirit and with that feeling and it makes me proud, gentlemen, that the businessmen of America, the men who stand at the front of their professions, should be willing in this way to associate themselves with the government in the task in which it needs all sorts of expert and serious advice."

"Nothing ought to be done in this by any single group of persons—everything ought to be done by all of us united together—and I welcome this association in the most serious and grateful spirit."

The President was warmly applauded by his hearers.

The board, of which Thomas A. Edison is chairman, met here today for the first time, to effect organization, to lay plans for future work and for cooperation with naval experts on problems now before the navy department. Mr. Edison presided and most of the members of the board as well as the advisory council of the department were present.

The board, at its meeting, called on President Wilson and visited the naval proving grounds at Indian Harbor, Md., to witness tests of the 14-inch gun.

The most pressing problem before the board for consideration is that of perfecting gasoline or oil motors for aeroplanes and submarines. Next in importance will be that of defense against torpedo attack.

Andrew L. Riker, present head of the Locomobile Company of America and newly appointed member of the Naval Advisory board, left this city yesterday to attend the first session of that board.

Prison Sentence For Carmalino, Convicted of Theft

Deliberating only ten minutes, a jury in the criminal superior court this afternoon brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of Frank Carmalino of this city, charged with the theft of $617 from Louis Lunt of Hallett street. The case had been on trial before Judge Shumway and a jury for three days. After the jury's verdict the court sentenced Carmalino to state's prison for not more than three and not less than one year.

REBUILD NORTH AVENUE TROLLEY TRACKS; PAVE SPACE BETWEEN RAILS

The tracks of the Connecticut Co. between Deway street and Park avenue, on North avenue, are being rebuilt. Amsted has been used to pave North Main street between the trolley tracks as far as the end of the line. Concrete is being used on Noble avenue and Fairfield avenue, on the latter between State street extension and Ash street.

A Warm Kitchen Now—
A Cool Kitchen in Summer

There Are Several Types of These Ranges

In fact, there are so many that we cannot feature any one in particular. We have them in all sizes with or without the high cabinet, but every one, regardless of its size or model, carries an absolute, positive guarantee from both the maker and ourselves as to its construction and serviceability. What others claim in words we put in writing. Which do you prefer?

A Factory Expert from the Peninsular Co.

A factory expert direct from The Peninsular Stove Company, will be here to explain to you why the Peninsular Combination Coal and Gas Range is not only the best stove to buy of today, but the most satisfactory, fuel-saving, convenient "Two-in-One" range built.

The World's Greatest Combination Gas and Coal Range, Sold with a Personally Signed Guarantee

And that guarantee is a mighty broad one. It covers every mechanical feature of this stove. It absolutely guarantees economy of fuel and satisfaction in baking results. When you place this range in your home you do so with a signed guarantee from both the makers and ourselves, and this guarantee is signed by the officials of the Peninsular Stove Company and the heads of this firm. We could not possibly afford to issue this guarantee unless this range was absolutely the very best combination Gas and Coal Range made by any firm.

This range, even with its broad guarantee, costs no more than an ordinary combination Gas and Coal Range without a guarantee. And furthermore, you can buy a Peninsular Combination Gas and Coal Range here on easy terms.

Two Stoves in One

Two stoves in one—for Winter—Summer—Spring and Fall—always ready. Burns coal or gas—bakes with coal or gas—one fuel does not interfere with the other. Eight hole top—four covers for coal—four burners for gas—only occupies 43 inches of floor space.

Is the Best Kind of Economy

You not only economize on the purchase price of an article, but also you economize on the space it will occupy. There is no necessity for buying an individual Gas or Coal Range when you can have all the advantage of both concentrated in one stove. There is no disputing the economy of a coal range in winter or the advantage of a gas range in summer and you have them both in this one stove.

Bake in the Winter With Coal, Summer With Gas

You can bake in the summer with gas and have the enjoyment of a Real Cool Kitchen—in the winter all the cooking can be done on the coal section with the gas "ever ready" for emergencies. The real convenience of this wonderful Range cannot be exaggerated.

HENRY A. LAMBERT, NOTED ARCHITECT, HAS SUDDEN DEATH

Veteran Designer Laid Out
Many of Largest Public Buildings Here.

Henry A. Lambert, veteran architect of Bridgeport and called by many "the father of Bridgeport architects," died suddenly this morning. He was attacked by heart failure, at his home, 47 Fremont street.

Mr. Lambert practiced in architecture in this city and Waterbury for more than 40 years. He is probably the most widely known person in that business in Connecticut.

While his health hasn't been very strong in the last few years, he was apparently feeling well yesterday when he entertained himself with others in a card game. This morning, however, he collapsed suddenly and died within a few minutes, stricken with a severe attack of cardiac trouble.

Besides being a pioneer architect in Bridgeport, Mr. Lambert designed most of the older public buildings in this city. The Bridgeport hospital, the Noroton Home for Old Soldiers, the Bridgeport public library, No. 6 engine house, the studio buildings, and many other structures stand to his credit. He was more generally known as a designer of dwelling houses.

Architects who knew Mr. Lambert say he is the man who "brought up" most of the local architects who are now practicing. With him worked Walter Banks, E. G. Southey, Walter Skinner and the late Henry Howe and the late Joseph O'Brien. They learned the architectural art in his offices.

He first practiced with his late brother, Richard Lambert, in the firm of Lambert & Bunnell. Their offices were in the old Wales building, over the Harrah tea store, which in those days was distinguished by a large tea pot suspended over the doorway.

Architects in this city say he was not only one of the oldest of Bridgeport's architects, but in his prime he had most of the business in that line about this city. During the period from 1875 to 1880, he had a remarkable business.

He had practiced nearly half a century. About 10 years ago, when he had his offices in the Warner building on Fairfield avenue, he quit active work.

He was married twice. His second wife survives him. Besides, there are two sons, Dr. H. Bertram Lambert and Edward A. Lambert, who is employed with the Fletcher Engineering Co., as an architect.

Mr. Lambert was prominent in social circles. He was a member of the Sea Side club for many years.

Perratta Sentenced To Prison For From
One to Eight Years

After sending four knives to the state chemist for examination, finding blood on two of the weapons, State's Attorney Cummings decided that nothing less than a manslaughter plea could be accepted from John Perratta, accused of fatally stabbing Louis DiGiovanni September 5, last.

At a session of the criminal superior court yesterday afternoon Perratta pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced by Judge Shumway to serve not more than eight; and not less than one year in state's prison. The accused was represented by Attorney George F. Mara.

Perratta maintained he did the stabbing with a jack knife, but the state declared the wound was inflicted by a stiletto, found in a trunk owned by the accused. The state chemist found blood on the blade of the jack knife and on the handle of the stiletto. The men, who lived at 182 Linen avenue, had a dispute because Perratta insisted upon sending his dog to sleep in DiGiovanni's bed.

OBITUARY

HANNAH WHEWAY

Mrs. Hannah Wheway, for nearly 25 years a resident of the South End, died last night at her home, 47 Rosedale street. She was 72 years of age and is survived by her husband, John Wheway, a retired merchant who for many years was an employee of the Elastic Webb Co., and other weaving manufacturers in this city; a stepson, John Wheway, of 43 Rosedale street, an employee of the Armstrong Mfg. Co.; and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Anna Davis of South avenue. Mrs. Wheway was a communicant of St. John's Episcopal church and a member of the Daughters of St. George.

She was born in Lincolnshire, England, Sept. 6, 1843. She was the second wife of Mr. Wheway and was married in England in 1865, coming to this country shortly after her marriage. For years she and her husband have been residents of the South End and she will be mourned by many persons as a good wife and a kindly neighbor.

Rah-Chunu, head of the recent Japanese revolt and seven of his associates, were put to death for sedition and revolt.

OLDEST G. A. R. MAN DEAD.

Hazardville, Conn., Oct. 6.—Francis Rosenberg, 96 years old, believed to be the oldest Civil War veteran in Connecticut, if not in the country, died at his home here late last night after an illness of two weeks. He was a native of Germany, where he was in the military service. He served in the Civil war with Company F, 22nd Connecticut Volunteers.

WESTERN RAILROADS ASK PASSENGER FARE INCREASE

Washington, Oct. 6.—Argument was begun today before the interstate commerce commission today on the proposed increase in passenger fares, on railroads between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains. The case is related to the Western advance freight rate case recently decided.

London, Oct. 6.—Reuters' Athens correspondent states that Hunan is hurriedly dispatching troops to the Bulgarian frontier and otherwise taking extraordinary military measures.
